

Additional Terms and Conditions of Sale WIKA Instrument, LP Annex B - Software

In addition to the WIKA Instrument, LP Terms and Conditions of Sale, If a product includes, or is accompanied by, any software, the following terms apply:

- A. The software and accompanying materials (collectively, the "Software") (including any images, "applets", photographs, animations, video, audio, music and text incorporated into the Software) is owned by Seller and/or its licensors and is protected by United States copyright laws and international treaty provisions and all other applicable national laws. Buyer may either (a) make one copy of the Software solely for backup or archival purposes or (b) transfer the Software to a single hard disk provided that the original is kept solely for backup or archival purposes. Buyer may not copy the user documentation include with the Software. Buyer may not repackage or distribute the Software.
- B. The Software is licensed to Buyer by Seller and/or its licensors and at no time do you have any ownership of the Software. Buyer may install the Software on any computer, and may activate a license on single PC for each license purchased. Buyer agrees to allow the Software to communicate, via the Internet, to Seller and/or its licensors' servers for any purpose which may include but not limited to version checking, license validation, license activation, and license deactivation. For PC based products, license activation is linked to the computer's name, also known as the computer's network name. If Buyer needs to change the computer's network name for any reason, Buyer must use the "remove license" procedure (located on the activation screen) prior to renaming the computer name, and reactivate the license after the computer name has been changed. Once a license is activated on a machine, it is Buyer's responsibility to protect it. If an activated license is destroyed for any reason, it cannot be activated again. A license may be transferred from one PC to another, provided the license is removed from the original PC first, only by means of using the deactivation or "remove license" feature located within the Software itself. If Buyer's computer become inoperable for any reason by which the Software license cannot be deactivated, the license must be reset by Seller. Seller limits the number of license resets per calendar year to three per single license. Seller reserves the right to revoke any Software license for any reason, including, but not limited to an actual or suspected breach of these terms.
- C. Buyer may not install or use the products on or in conjunction with computers that are connected to life-saving or life-supporting medical equipment, nor on or in conjunction with any equipment used in the production or administering of drugs or breathable gasses, nor on or in conjunction with any equipment that, through malfunction or misuse, could directly or indirectly cause physical injury or death.
- D. Buyer shall not attempt to reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Software. Buyer shall not analyze the Software, their data files, or transmission protocols in an attempt to discover its systems and methods of operation. Buyer shall not communicate to others any discovery of technical procedures, systems and methods, or protocol of the Software.
- E. The Software and documentation are provided with RESTRICTED RIGHTS. Use, duplication or disclosure by the United States Government is subject to restrictions as set forth in subparagraph (c)(1)(ii) of The Rights in Technical Data and computer Software clause at DFARS 252.227-7013 or subparagraphs (c)(1) and (2) of the Commercial Computer Software– Restricted Rights at 48 CFR 52.227-19, as applicable.
- F. Buyer is solely responsible for the installation and/or maintenance of the products, and for the proper installation, configuration, and operation of any supporting software or hardware and other services upon which the products rely. The products are delivered with certain default settings, which may not be appropriate for all computers. Buyer is responsible for selecting the correct settings for any server, and clients, as well as any other software or operating system.
- G. From time to time Seller may release updates for the Software, and may notify Buyer of their availability through one or more methods. Buyer is responsible for periodically checking the informational web site at www.phaseivengr.com/support, or such other sites provided by Seller for the availability of updates. Buyer agrees to download and apply updates to the Software as updates are released, in a timely way. Seller may not support Software that is not at the current version. Seller may, in its sole discretion, make updates and other services available only to customers who have current maintenance subscriptions.
- H. For defective Software returned within one year from the invoice date, Seller will repair or replace, at its option, the Software without charge. The foregoing is Buyer's sole remedy and is in lieu of all damages, warranties, expressed or implied, including those of merchantability and fitness for a particular purpose.
